Enough already 4-13-88

Regarding Roy Meachum's fence — enough already! If Mr. Meachum's ego is so huge he needs to feel everything is a personal vendetta against him, I'm sorry for him. Facts don't get in his way, but here are a couple for him:

1. Ron Young was not mayor in 1964 when the pertinent zoning law was passed. If Mr. Young was this far-sighted, however, more power to him.

2. Ron Young was not on the zoning appeals board that voted unanimously to disallow his fence.

As far as I'm concerned, Mr. Meachum is just anybody, and needs to go through proper channels just like you or I do if we want to change or add to our "dream house."

Please ask Mr. Meachum not to waste valuable column space on his personal problems, if he wants to air his petty grievances, let him write letters to the editor. Perhaps Mike Clem could have Roy's space.

No other citizen would get this kind of coverage or warrant the amount of space Mr. Meachum's fence gets. The issue just doesn't deserve all this attention. Let the agencies designed to deal with this problem handle it, and give our newspaper space back to important issues. Enough has been said — no, more than enough; it's time to move on.
